All an expat need to know about housing in the Netherlands

The Dutch housing market might be difficult to understand for expats looking to buy or rent a home,

Getting an understanding of tenants' rights, mortgages and property law is a must. At the fair expats will find among others: real estate agents, short-stay residences, mortgage advisors and notaries to help expats find answers to their questions regarding housing in the Netherlands.

Visitors will have free access to exclusive workshops, that focus on every aspect of finding their dream home in the Netherlands.

The Netherlands is committed to choice in Dutch education and expats find a huge range of schools and universities in the Netherlands to consider when enrolling their child into the Dutch education system, including numerous international schools of which some are also subsidised.

The Dutch school system, however, is quite unique and the choice can be confusing for internationals. During the Expat Fair Eindhoven expats can meet several schools and universities follow presentations to help them to understand the Netherlands education system. So they can make their choice from the multitude of schools to enrol their child into the Netherlands school system.
